DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-6, 9-10 in the reply filed on 2-5-07 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that it would not be a burden to search both inventions. This is not found persuasive because searching for Inventions I and II would require two independent and separate searches such as searching for Group I in class 429 subclass 232 and searching for Group II in class 427 subclass 58.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 7-8 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 C.F.R. § 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention, the requirement having been traversed in Paper No. .

3. After further consideration the election of a species has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-3, 5, 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Matsubara et al. (6,733,922).

Matsubara et al. teaches in column 1, a lithium secondary battery comprising a negative material comprising a carbonaceous material. Matsubara et al. teaches in column 1, lines 33-44, that there are three suggested kinds of silicon material such as 1) a simple mixture material in which a silicon compound powder is added to graphite, 2) a graphite material in which a silicon compound particulate is chemically immobilized on the surface of the graphite by means of a silane coupling agent and 3) a material in which a graphite-based carbon material and a metal material such as Si are bound and coated with an amorphous carbon material.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 4, 6, 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Fujioka et al. (JP 2001-216961, abstract) teaches a silicon oxide is used as a negative electrode active material for a lithium secondary battery which is treated with a silane coupling agent.
